Senior council wants control

GRANITE CITY — Senior citizens feel they have little control over the Granite City Township

Building, said Gertrude Barkley, president of the Granite City Council of Seniors.

That is why the council has decided to start a fund drive to start its own senior center.

"Some of the things there won't like," Barkley said.

Mom of AIDS victim to meet Prather parents

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — The mother of Jason Robertson, a 7-year-old who has the AIDS virus, said she will meet parents at Prather Elementary School at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 9.

The purpose of the meeting is to let parents know what is being done to advance Jason's education, said his mother, Tammy Robertson, Wednesday.

In the meantime, work is progressing on the "portable" classroom in which Jason will be taught. The boy will be the only student in the classroom, which is located next to Prather.

"I wish there were other children in the class with him," Tammy said. "But he can't be like the other kids. They've been told on the corner and he said, 'I'm an AIDS carrier.'

Concerning the public, she said, "The public, she said, AIDS resulted in a home being bombed in Arcadia, Fla., and a lawsuit in Belleview. She said the classroom for Jason is an approach that is more likely to win public acceptance."

"It's time for a new approach," Tammy said. "May be it will be a little gentler on that public, which is afraid of AIDS."

Jason was born to Prather several times to look at the classroom, Tammy said. The first time, there was the roughest on him, she said.

"He was real excited about it. He ran down the street," she said. "He said he wanted to be like the other kids. Then he stood on the corner and said,

"How many kids are there, Mom?" I just told him it's new and he's going to be the first one to try it out. He was a little disappointed. He stood there and his smile sort of faded a little bit."

"Jason's accustomed to things not going his own way, but he's still excited about it."

A REAL CLASSROOM: Tammy Robertson peers into the portable classroom next to Prather Elementary School that is being prepared for use by her son, Jason, who is an AIDS carrier.

School District 9 Superintendent Gib Walsmley said he indicated support for the classroom for Jason, and will be asked Tuesday to make a firm commitment. Walsmley said the classroom could be ready in early November.

The classroom potentially could be used by other AIDS victims, but Walsmley said that is something for other districts to consider.

Tammy said the mother of a 6-year-old AIDS victim in Belleville probably wouldn't be interested in the regional class.

"We're still friends, but we're in opposite schools and I don't think Tammy said. "She's says it's still exciting and she disagrees with that totally."

Identical bids submitted

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Two identical bids were submitted to the Tri-City Regional Port District for a wastewater treatment project at the St. Louis Area Support Center (Army depot).

The project of separating water lines and hydrants is being done as part of an agreement with the U.S. Army for the port's purchase of 104 acres from the depot, Lavelle said.

There will be separate water service to the Army base and to land owned by the port.

The commissioners accepted a low bid of $25,824 from Madison County Trenching Inc., Bethalto, for the installation of a new sanitary sewer line and hookups with the Army's system at the depot. This also has to do with the port's purchase of the Army land, Lavelle said.

Davlyn's M & I's bid were the lowest of several submitted by the commissioners accepted M & I's bid.

Jerry Lavelle, port district engineer, recommended M & I's bid since the firm has previously performed work for the port and is a "very competent contractor," he said.

Lavelle has been dealing with bids for 20 years, he said, and this is the first time he has seen identical ones.

Test probe in round 2

GRANITE CITY — Evidence on the police test score issue was to be heard at 9 a.m. today by the grand jury, said Randy Masssey, assistant prosecutor.

The case involves concern raised after patrolmen took a test for promotion to sergeant in July 1983. Jim Readman, David Rosenberg were promoted after ranking best in the U.S. on the nationally distributed test.

The test was mailed by the testing company to the home of 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partnoy, who then chaired the Fire and Police Committee.

Partnoy defended his role and said the test investigation is politically motivated.

Cardinal fans have Twin calling

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It's World Series week and the Minnesota Twins are the enemies around here.

But if you think the Twins don't have friends in this area, think again. The American League champions — and particularly their first baseman — have very close friends in Granite City, in fact.

Deron Hrbek, 28, of 2413 Sunbury Ave., can't be excused if he roots for the Twins this week. He is a first-cousin of Kent Hrbek, and the family might be a little worried about its loyalty.

"I think Deron is rooting for the Twins to win," said Deron's mother-in-law, Caroline Ezell, 3029 Edgewood Ave. "He and Kent are very close growing up and they still are."

"The kids went to the game Tuesday night," Caroline said. "And I'm hoping to get tickets for the game on Saturday. We have always been Cardinal fans, but I guess blood is thicker than water."

Deron's sister had her picture taken in the paper celebrating when the Cardinals won the pennant.

And the Minnesota media have been down here to talk with them."

Deron's father, Art, and Kent's father were brothers. Kent's father died several years ago. Deron married Lisa Ezell of Granite City, the daughter of Bill and Caroline Ezell.

Deron and Lisa have a 2-year-old son, Christopher, who is a little young to understand what is going on, but he recognizes Kent on television....

"He sees him on TV and says 'Pent,'" Caroline said. "We all know he is trying to say 'Kent' when we were watching Tuesday's game."

"I went out the other day to get Christopher some kind of Twins shirt to wear. Of course, everything is Cardinals around here, but I finally found something that would fit his size shirt. And we put the name 'Hrbek' on the shirt with No. 14."

Ezell's husband was hoping Kent could put away enough money on day off to come over for lunch. Deron's parents, Art and Audrey, now live in Edwardsville.

"I went to see him a few days ago. I would like to get my 12-year-old, David, out of school," she said.

"He is just dying to meet Kent and get an autograph. The Twins are staying at a hotel a little bit out from downtown, so Kent didn't know if he would be able to get there."

Though most of the family are Cardinals fans, they find themselves not only rooting for Kent to do well, but for the Twins to win.

"I know Deron's dad is rooting for the Twins," Caroline said. "We were just hoping to see that both teams could get into the World Series. It's really nice because we will be happy no matter which team wins. There aren't many times when you can say that."

Jefferson County grand jury to hear how driver was killed

The grand jury in Jefferson County will sit down from the state's attorney's office there involving the death of Bryan Dale Burkett, 18, of 1651 Third St., Madison.

Burkett was pronounced dead of auto crash injuries sustained shortly before 2 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 17, in Mt. Vernon.

Jefferson County Attorney Kathleen Alling said the grand jury would meet in 10 to 12 days if there is reason to file charges against Charles Karch, 28, of Mt. Vernon.

Burkett, driving a Ford Pinto station wagon, and Karch, driving a two-door Ford Pinto, were said to have been racing their cars on Meadowbrook Road in Madison.

Mr. Vernon Police Chief Ron Massey said Karch took the lead and Burkett tried to pass on the right. Karch told police he felt the two cars bump each other and then saw Burkett's vehicle veered from the roadway, Karch's to the south side of the road into a ditch and Mr. Burkett's to the north side.

The Burkett car also went into a ditch and struck a utility culvert, causing the auto to spin and strike a wood walkway over the ditch. The front part of the auto then struck a tree, flipping the car onto its top, according to the police.

Chamber honors Wilmsmeyer

GRANITE CITY — "A loyal and active supporter of both human services and civic organizations," Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer received the Community Achievement Award from the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 15.

Wilmsmeyer is chairman of First Granite City National Bank, a member of the Tri-Cities Regional Port District, a former chairman for the Tri-Cities Area United Way, and was acknowledged by the chamber for his support of the Tri-Cities YMCA, Junior Achievement, Quad-City Soccer Association, United Way, and chamber.

"He's a solid guy," said R.C. Bush, executive vice president for the chamber. "He's strongly civic minded and concerned for the community."

In addition to the award presentation, Mary Brown, chairwoman of the Community Betterment Committee, said the chamber sought to honor someone that has contributed to the community by improving the quality of life or by serving the community in a volunteer role or supplying leadership.

Wilmsmeyer exemplifies all these qualities. An enterprising volunteer in our community, we would like to recognize Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer as this year's recipient of the Community Achievement Award."

Wilmsmeyer was nominated for the award by Jim Eisenbeis, who was named chamber president at the meeting last week.

In making the nomination, Eisenbeis stated, "Mel Wilmsmeyer has been a continuing loyal and active supporter of human services and civic organizations in our community."

Eisenbeis added, "His unassuming style, prompt exercise of responsibility, and his willingness to participate have made it enjoyable for others to work with him in these many endeavors."

The award humbled Wilmsmeyer, who said Wednesday, "I feel very honored in receiving it. I don't feel I'm deserving of it. There's a whole lot more than I do."

"It's truly an honor."

Eagle Park to sponsor firemen, EMT training

EAGLE PARK — In an effort to upgrade the fire protection district, the Eagle Park Action Committee will sponsor and finance tuition fees for the Aera College for four students who are interested in becoming firemen, emergency medical technicians and paramedics.

One applicant interested in obtaining an associate degree in these fields will be considered, said Ed Salmond, committee president.

Applications for scholarship will be available to residents of Eagle Park from Oct. 31 through Nov. 16 at the Eagle Park Fire Station. Those applying must be between the ages of 18 and 25.

After the four applicants are selected and have been accepted as students at Belleville Area College, free housing quarters will be provided for them at 208 Terry St. during their two years of enrollment at school and employment with the fire district, Salmond said.

Employment will only be granted to those students who successfully complete the training program he said. Enrollment at BAC will be in January 1988.

Those completing the program are required to remain residents of the Eagle Park community and a paid employee of the fire district for a period of five years.

Construction of a new building to house the student firemen shortly will begin at 208 Terry St. he said.

The firemen's quarters, built on a 100x175-foot lot, will include four bedrooms, a study area, kitchen and bathroom.

Further information about the program may be obtained by calling Salmond at 451-7221.

Halloween dance to help Phoenix

A Halloween costume dance to benefit Phoenix Crisis Center for Abused Women and Children will be hosted Oct. 31 at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Old Alton Road. Ollie Derr, chairman said.

Food and refreshments will be served at 7 p.m. with dancing to begin at 9 p.m. and end at 1 a.m., she said. Costume judging will be at 9:30 p.m., and prizes for the various categories will be awarded at the intermissions.

Serving as judges will be State Rep. Sam Wolf; Dal Maxwell, general manager of the Cardinals; Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruise and Shirley Adams, sales manager and public relations officer for WGNU Radio.

The Poverty Flats will play music from the 1950s through 80s. The chairman said tickets are $7.50 each and are available from volunteers of the center or by calling 877-8251 or 931-6538. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

The center is a shelter house for victims of domestic violence and also provides food, clothing, legal advocacy and counseling services.

Due to funding cuts in the Victims and Witness Assistance Program and state grants are being phased out through the federal grant appropriated through Madison County Community Development, the shelter cannot open its doors for on-site assistance and give the full support to the victims, the chairman said. She added funds from the dance will be used at the center until grant monies are received.

Many organizations, churches, businesses, local agencies and private donors have helped the shelter with donations and support, but to meet health care and improving standards for the clients, a greater amount is needed before the doors can open to victims, Derr said.

"We do not intend to deny the services to those who need it. We simply have to find ways to finance this loss, hopefully through community support."

The program consisted of a film depicting the history and present operations and activities of the Auxiliary, complete with nostalgic views of a bygone era.

Bob Gill, video specialist at the medical center, showed the film which was planned and written by Gail Plantz, a public relations intern.

Helen Utley, Mrs. Bergfeld, was in charge of the luncheon, decorations and prizes. She was assisted by Lou Cable, Betty Schwaller, Ann Miller and Adele Balcer.

Letters inspire AIDS victim

By Rick Arnold
Staff writer

A 6-year-old AIDS victim from Belleville has received more than 200 cards and letters of encouragement from St. Louis-area residents in the last few weeks, his mother said.

The mother, speaking last week from the St. Louis hospital where the child has been recovering for three weeks from chicken pox, said he is scheduled for release Saturday.

Along with cards and letters, well-wishers have sent baseball cards and money.

"He's a baseball fan. He hasn't been able to get out to any games but he still likes to watch them on TV," she said. "He's back home now and he wants to watch tonight's (Wednesday's) game."

The boy has been tutored at home since Belleville Grade-

School District 118's decision Aug. 25 to bar him from attending classes at Jefferson School.

The child's mother has filed a hearing request with the school board to allow him to attend regular classes. A hearing is scheduled Nov. 9 in federal court in East St. Louis.

Lewis, addressed as "Jane Doe" and "Johnny Doe," have been sent to the office of the mother's Belleville attorney, Robert Hillebrand.

"He's pleased by the outpouring of support, she is disappointed that only seven letters have come from Belleville. But the letters certainly have been the highlight of her son's hospital stay, she said.

That's why we're sponsoring a new-car sales extravaganza! Not only have we slashed our new car loan rate to go with special terms, but we've also worked out an agreement with a select group of local auto dealers to offer extra low prices on their 1987 and 1988 vehicles.

- 100% Credit Union Financing — the credit union has a special rate of 8.9% APR for 48 months, including 100% financing of the sale price to qualified borrowers. Payroll Deduction and Credit Life Insurance are also available at no additional cost.
- Exclusive Dealer Discounts — participating auto dealers will offer substantial savings on selected new cars, vans and trucks. To qualify for the discounts, you must finance your auto purchase through Granite City Steel Employee's Federal Credit Union.
- Pre-Approvals — Before you shop for a new car, be sure to stop by the credit union office to complete a loan application. The loan officer will give you the list of participating auto dealers and the price discounts they have agreed to offer exclusively for this sale.

Loss reported for A.O. Smith in 3rd quarter

MILWAUKEE — A.O. Smith Corp. sustained a third-quarter loss from continuing operations of $1.6 million or 19 cents per fully diluted share. For the first nine months of 1987, the corporation's continuing earnings were $10.7 million or

$1.2 per fully diluted share on revenues of $1.1 billion.

This compares with 1986 nine-month continuing earnings of $17.1 million or $1.94 per fully diluted share. Sales for the first nine months of 1986 were $679 million.

"Although this could be called typical third-quarter performance for A.O. Smith, it is clearly not up to our expectations," Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Thomas L. Dolan commented.

"We are experiencing extremely competitive pricing in all of our markets and we expect this condition to continue through the fourth quarter. While painful in the near term, we are meeting competition in order to serve the long-term interests of the business," Dolan said.

Dolan also cited the impact on the quarter of expenditures for the opening of two new Electrical Distribution and Distribution plants and a new Water Products facility. The cost of moving standard commercial water heater production to the McRae, S.C., plant was also a factor.

Smith's plants include one in Granite City.

Work stamina center nearly ready for use

The renovation of McKinley School's second floor for the new Providence Inc. offices is nearly complete, according to Ginny Leppin, Providence vice president.

The renovated space will also feature 2,500 square feet which will be used for the Work Stamina Program, described as a unique rehabilitation program for clients with work-related injuries.

The Work Stamina Program's Work Center is a unique ly designed area, modeled after a modern warehouse containing a work station and a computerized BTE work simulator for the purpose of evaluating work tolerance and building stamina and strength.

It is a highly specialized rehabilitation program that bridges the gap between traditional rehab and a return to work by simulating workplace activities and training in a monitored environment.

Approximately 85 percent of all workers who complete the program return to previous employment and 15 percent are returned to alternate job placement.

The Work Stamina Program, which is unique in the Metro East area, will be located at 100 W. Main Street, between St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the Work Center.

In addition to the Work Stamina area, the floor will include offices and a cafeteria and will be the new home of the Providence central office and the Employee Assistance Program.

Letters bring cheer to AIDS victim

"Whenever I get back from our attorney's office with another batch, it's like, 'Mom, drop everything and let's read the letters.' It proves to him that enough people out there care and are supporting him and not shunning him."

Seniors

Senior citizens want more control

Granite City Township General Assistance supervisor, Bernie Hagnauer, wife of Township Supervisor Nellie Hagnauer, controls all scheduling for senior activities.

"You have to go into her office for everything. That's not right," Hagnauer said. "We're just tired of them telling us what we can do and can't do."

Barkley said seniors are never able to schedule the building for weekend evening dances, have two school year activities a month, and have no place to store materials for arts and crafts.

Barkley said the council finds it difficult to reach Nellie Hagnauer to discuss problems it has with the township's senior programs. She said she even sent him a registered letter to request a meeting.

"I said we would like to work out something," Barkley said. "He never answered."

A new senior center would enable seniors to better control what type of activities they want and when they want to have them, Barkley said.

"You are your own boss when you've got your own building," she said. When the township building on Delmar Avenue and 21st Street was built in 1974, it was to be used for township offices and a senior center. The township used federal revenue sharing funds to build it, and the funds were in part to be used for senior citizens, Barkley said.

"They could have had their senior center in the township building unless the seniors were in there," she said.

The township did a good job with the senior programs until the council started "causing trouble," said Barkley Hagnauer.

At present, there are four of the best senior centers in Illinois. We had everything going on there for seniors until newcomers started coming there — that ruined it," Hagnauer said, referring to the new council members.

The township did a good job with the senior programs until the council started "causing trouble," said Barkley Hagnauer.

"When the money is there, we make Old Newsboys Day a tremendous success," Jensen said.

To make the annual Old Newsboys Day campaign successful a total effort of the community is needed.

An army of 10,000 volunteers will sell the papers Thursday Nov. 19, but the citizens of the metropolitan area must buy the paper to make the whole thing go.

"When the money is there, we make Old Newsboys Day a tremendous success," Jensen said.

volunteer will receive a certificate with his/her Newsboys registration kit, good for a breakfast biscuit and either a cup of coffee or orange juice.

The breakfast will be a welcome treat for the volunteers, who usually have to brave high winds and cold temperatures during the annual charity event.

Jim Jensen, vice president of the area Hardee's district, is more than happy to get behind the drive.

"Old Newsboys Day is a superb example of the volunteerism of the St. Louis area," he said. "Hardee's is pleased to provide these civic-minded Old Newsboys with a hot Hardee's breakfast.

Hardee's has always played a significant role in supporting community activities.

Hardee's has been a principal supporter of the National Special Olympics program for several years, contributing more than $300,000 at the Special Olympics International games held this summer in South Bend, Ind. Of that contribution, $27,000 went to the Special Olympics in St. Louis.

In 1987, Hardee's has been a sponsor of promotional events with the baseball Cardinals, the Blues, the VF Fair and St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Hardee's operates 75 restaurants in the St. Louis area.

The drive to sign volunteers continues. Those interested in volunteering should call the Old Newsboys Day Hotline at (314) 521-0211.

Serving our country

Wayne Peterson

The serviceman's parents recently visited North Carolina and toured the Air Force base with their son. They also enjoyed viewing the night flights of the F4E aircraft.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson visited the Outer Banks area, Kitty Hawk and other historic locations while guests of their son and daughter-in-law.

Garen Carroll

Marine Pfc. Garen D. Carroll, of 1346 Slough Road, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego. A graduate of Granite City High School, Carroll joined the Corps in July.

During the 11-week training cycle, Carroll was taught the basics of battlefield survival and some of the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He also participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including aid and first-aid, marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self discipline were emphasized throughout the training period.

Marvin Millard

Marvin Millard of Brooklyn has joined the U.S. Army Reserve and will serve with the 657th Transportation Detachment, a local Reserve unit, according to her recruiter, Staff Sgt. Darcella K. Jackson of the East St. Louis Army Recruiting Station, 4700 State St., Suite 100.

Millard will receive training at Fort Knox, Ky., and will return home to serve one weekend a month and two weeks out of each year with the local unit.

Information is available on the Reserve Component GI Bill entitlements, cash enlistment bonuses, the Civilian Acquired Skills Program, which can lead to accelerated promotion, and other advantages in becoming a "citizen soldier" in the USAF by contacting Jackson at 270-1696.

Steven Cann

Steven Lee Cann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cann of Granite City, recently enlisted in the Navy's Delayed Entry Program.

The enlistment ceremony took place at the St. Louis Military Enlistment Processing Station.

A senior at Granite City High School, Cann enlisted for training as a machinist.

"The Navy offers training in more than 100 career fields, including numerous mechanical and technical opportunities," said P. J. Hennem, Navy recruiter at 3705 Nameoki Road.

The Delayed Enrollment Program gives a person up to one year before they report for active duty.

The enlistee will earn seniority towards higher pay while finishing school, concluding personal business or taking a vacation, Fleener said.

Samuel Guithues

Samuel Guithues of Granite City has qualified for the GI Bill with his enlistment in the U.S. Army.

According to Staff Sgt. Mark A. McMurray of the Army Recruiting Station, 3675 Nameoki Road, Guithues, 19, received a written guarantee from the Army that he will be trained as a medical specialist, the job specialty of his choice.

Guithues, a 1987 graduate of Granite City High School, reported for duty Sept. 17 and is taking basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He has reported to advanced individual training at Camp Houston in San Antonio, Tex.

Young people who can meet the Army's physical and aptitude standards may call McMurray at 476-5610 to learn more about opportunities. He has information on the GI Bill, Plus the Army College Fund, in which a recruit can accumulate as much as $25,200 for future college expenses. He also details about such things as skill training, educational aid, travel options and many more benefits today's Army has to offer, the recruiter said.

Joseph Hinnen IV

Joseph Hinnen IV, a senior at Granite City High School, recently qualified and enlisted in the United States Navy for guaranteed training at the Navy's Machinist Repairman School.

His son, Joe and Kay Hinnen of Granite City, Hinnen enlisted under the Delayed Entry Program and will complete high school before reporting to San Diego in August 1988 to begin basic training.

Upon completion of basic courses, Hinnen will begin 12 weeks of training in the Machinist Repairman field, also in San Diego.

Machinery repairmen are skilled tool operators, who make replacement parts and do maintenance or overhaul of ships' engine auxiliary equipment, such as evaporators, air compressors and pumps.

Petty Officer 1st Class Patrick Fleener of the Granite City Army Recruiting Station, 3675 Nameoki Road, Hennem's recruiter noted that Joseph may go on to additional schooling or be assigned to any one of the Navy's duty station around the world after finishing the basic training and Machinist Repairman course.

Tammy King

Cadet Tammy P. King, daughter of Gloria L. King of Venice, received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp held at Fort Riley, Kan.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, involved instruction in communications, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

King is a student at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

V-J Day, pennant, 1929 on our minds

In 1929, there were two big events in my life: I was born and the stock market crashed. I hope it wasn't a case of cause and effect.

This week's column started out to be mainly a report on "How we won the pennant." (There always is a collective we, even though the topic is history, isn't there?) But baseball will have to share top billing with Wall Street. Just as the fall of '29 included a black Tuesday, this year's V-J Day has its black and blue Monday.

As this was being written, the World Series had gotten off to a rocky, non-Rocky, start. Even though that rousing fight song was being played often at the ball park. But for a moment, let's look back to the pre-Series series and savor the joy of capturing the 1929 pennant, this year in six years. ****

I don't remember 1929, but I vividly recall 16 years later.

I was playing downtown St. Louis for the boisterous V-J Day celebration (victory over Japan) in August 1945. This year's pennant party didn't quite match it, but it was close.

When the opportunity arose to attend the seventh and final playoff game with San Francisco, I acted like a kid on a baseball cap, proclaiming St. Louis as the National League East champion (over the Mets and Expos). My wife located my bright Press-Record jacket and I added a red tie and was all set to do some hearty cheering. ****

A certain building near Busch Stadium was said to be easy to park in and easy to leave. Right on the first point but wrong on the second, as I learned five hours later.

The next wrong guess was that, anticipating a huge downtown crowd, Mike Shannon's surely would have a few tasty meals available to satisfy those who had not yet had supper.

The broadcaster's restaurant had wall-to-wall people and no prospect of being served, so I walked to nearby Amrigatti's, famous for its bread, pastry and sandwiches.

Number one son, the financial analyst, had a financial tip calculated that the two of us would be in and out in time to get to our stadium seats comfortably early. The staff tried valiantly, but by the time we

Legislators note stock crash, cite budget and trade deficits as cause

Area lawmakers are divided in their reaction to the stock market crash. Some echoed the President in calling the economy "sound."

Democrats blamed Monday's 500-point-plus drop in huge budget and trade deficits. Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., said, "It ought to jolt the White House and Congress into immediate, confidence-restoring action against deficits."

had downed a spicy Amighetti special, we had to hurry. ****

Having left our cowboy hats behind, we were faced with a short wait to witness inspection at the park. Soon we encountered three familiar faces among the 55,000, Jack Dempsey, Don Adams and Jimmie Driftwood. No doubt a good sign. But our seats were at a level where oxygen masks would have come in handy.

After the climb, it was pure delight. Led by Jose Oquendo's 20-run home-run, the Red Birds conquered the Giants 6-0.

All the St. Louis players ran onto the field to celebrate at the end. The scoreboard halted them as league champion and a loud fireworks display let the whole region know the outcome of the deciding game.

It was nearly impossible to walk through the gates of the stadium, due to the crush of people, and even more impossible to seriously consider trying to locate one's car. A walk through the abutment made for a bite to eat made much more sense. ****

V-J Day was mostly walking, dancing, kissing, shouting, people. There was a lot of that on Oct. 14, but, in contrast with '45, much more done on autos.

Hours could consist of and the inevitable traffic tie-up took on a life of its own. Many non-attenders drove to the stadium and circled through an area several times.

At the Annex, the dignified restaurant and lobby, not to mention the bar, attracted many happy fans, some elegantly dressed above and beyond the call of duty.

The constant chant, even at the elegant hotel, was "Jeffrey, Jeffrey, Jeffrey." The opposing leftfielder had voiced so many times that he deserved it.

This is said without rancor.

Professional sports provide a lot of wholesome entertainment and performances like those of the baseball Cardinals again

World Series aspirations.

At 12:30 a.m., there was still a wait to leave the parking building, but from there it was only a few blocks down to then a journey across the King Bridge, smooth sailing all the way.

It was a short night, but a memorable one — an utterly enjoyable and fascinating way to spend an evening.

Dal Maxvill and all his associates deserve high praise.

The baseball competition the return of professional football players to their teams, and the economic impact of an approximately the same time.

Without brooding about one's stock losses or dwelling excessively on recession fears, it was possible to see the difference between the real world and fun activities like sports.

Our family in the 1930s did not always have sufficient food for the number of mouths.

We trust God's plans for us do not include another depression era, but that type of concern obviously trumps the importance of whether a particular team wins its games or whether individual athletes earn a million dollars a year or only a half-million.

On the other hand, sports today are a lot better than in the days when big stadiums were the scene of scores like Lions 3, Cards 0.

Professional sports provide a lot of wholesome entertainment and performances like those of the baseball Cardinals again to be a healthy, unifying influence on this metropolitan area. ****

Finally, will there be a new V-J Day? Can we expect to achieve a victory over Japan economically?

This is said without rancor. Actually, there are fine Japanese who live in this community, where Granite City Steel is jointly owned by Nippon Kokan of Japan and National Intergroup of the United States.

But unless we as a nation become truly world-class in terms of product quality and price, can we sustain our standard of living, balance our national budget, end world trade imbalances, bolster the stock market and avoid recessions?

Some Cardinal-style competitiveness couldn't hurt.

At the end of the day, the staff eliminated from its fundamental economic problems facing the nation. ****

Cost of long-term care for aging top concern

Long-term care will be a key agenda item at the Illinois Council of Aging meeting Tuesday in Chicago. Also to be discussed will be the impact of recent cuts made in the Illinois Department of Aging's budget for 1988.

"This is the second increase in the last six years," said Thomas Bestulik, Illinois State Fire Marshal, "but it still is a 39 percent decrease from the $183,816,522 direct loss figure of 1986." (Losses due to fire include package policies, uninsured or underinsured losses.

Fire losses climb 24 percent last year

Illinois' total insured fire losses paid by 703 insurance carriers licensed to conduct business in state were an increase of $12,339,510, or 24.3 percent, over 1986.

Take District 9 back from political hands

The idea that school boards are "hands-off" to politicians seems to have been lost in Granite City. But that can easily change.

Naturally, no one argues with the idea of a few people getting together and calling themselves a party. And it's reasonable to pool their limited resources to buy a few signs and brochures, maybe even some bumper stickers, no one who loves a democracy can complain.

But when such a political party involves people who hold two or more fund-raising events designed to build campaign war-chest that will crush the opposition under a wave of money...

When the party consists of incumbents who have given school district jobs to political figures such as Alan Crider...

When a party member pretends to know better than trained administrators, who to hire for district jobs...

When that happens, the School Board is in danger of being reduced to just another fat political plum, a stage it has sadly reached.

Those who hold the altruistic belief that education should be wrung from the hands of back-room wheeler-dealers, should ditch the candidates from the politicians.

There are good candidates running in this election, Debbie Holt-Wilkerson, Roy Koberna, Mack Johnson and Paul Ray Bowler are such people.

Koberna, Johnson and Wilkerson have never held political office. Bowler has but that to his credit because he and aldermen helped to bring several businesses to this community. His special qualifications for the board include a master's degree in educational administration so he'll understand quite well what district administrators have to say.

Koberna, Johnson, Wilkerson and Bowler offer a fresh, decent approach to education in Granite City.

Mack Johnson summed it up well when he gave this as his reason for running: "To eliminate politics and make education this district's Number One priority. I want to see educators do their jobs without fear of political ramifications."

Johnson, Bowler, Koberna and Wilkerson are not running as a party and some of them haven't even met each other. But as individuals their views are unanimous and important to the district. Each said politics has no place in the decision-making process regarding the welfare of children and politics should not determine who gets a job in School District 9.

Now, consider the political party of Kelly Hogan, Jo Ann Macios and Marty LeVault:

Jo Ann Macios lists her occupation as office manager for the Nameoki Township assessor's office. She works for Cari Macios, her husband, who is the Nameoki Township assessor and a former member of the School Board. When a vacancy occurred on the School Board, Jo Ann Macios got the job.

Marty LeVault ran for sheriff in the 1986 Democratic primary against a fellow Granite Citian, Bob Astorian, and against Bob Churchich of Alton, who won the race.

Kelly Hogan has served four years on the board, including two years as president and one as secretary. He was an overwhelming voter favorite in 1983, but that was before the controversy involving former State Senator Mac Reagan's allegations of patronage and nepotism practiced in the district, and the heavy tarnish brought to the image of District 9 by the adverse reports published and broadcast by media serving the Metro East.

There are, of course, many others in the race, but the focus of the election is clearly on the political party of Macios, LeVault and Hogan because, after all, they're the ones who've been holding fund-raising events to get elected to a job that offers no salary.

Against them, standing apart from the pack, offering the public solid backgrounds and stands on issues relevant to District 9 voters, are four candidates who are ready to put you and your children first — Bowler, Johnson, Koberna and Wilkerson.

Voters can and should turn the Board of Education from the political road it's taken. They can do so by electing four new, capable board members.

On Nov. 3, make your vote count for Bowler, Johnson, Koberna and Wilkerson.

BAC board needs Bennett, Schermer, Eden, Rawlings

Belleville Area College needs farsighted procedures and policies but won't get them without new, capable board members.

Trustees' misguided, zigzag path during the past two years must not continue. The Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud regions all have too much at stake to permit government by capricious, unsound fiscal actions.

Every Schermer has successful business and college experience and would be a priceless BAC board asset in bringing proper priorities and roles into sharp focus.

Robert Eden is a teacher, Catherine "Kay" Bennett is an elementary school administrator. Both have concern for and expertise in the field of education.

Wyatt Rawlings is an accountant whose abilities could aid the board in making prudent, sensible plans.

Their proposals include convenient, appealing, well-marketed courses that would bolster enrollment, going a long way toward solving the present financial imbalance. We recommend their election.

BAC needs problem solvers

To the editor:

Four candidates seeking election on Nov. 3 to the Board of Trustees of Belleville Area College have formed a coalition called Project Excel.

The team candidate, Catherine "Kay" Bennett, Belleville, Robert G. Eden, Cahokia, Wyatt Rawlings III, Belleville, and Avery Schermer, Granite City, recently announced the formation of their educational committee.

Other candidates for the Project Excel Committee were Ben Johansen, director of public relations, Granite City Steel, president, Alfred E. Gue-bert, accountant, and insurance agent from Red Bud, vice president, Robert J. Hayes, attorney from Belleville, secretary; and Gary L. Bement, attorney from Belleville, treasurer.

The committee wants to see an end to the destruction divisiveness on the Board of Trustees and wants more concern shown to the needs of the students and taxpayers who underwrite the expenses of the community college.

Providing a reasonably-priced quality education is the overall goal of the Project Excel candidates and their committee.

Tax increase wouldn't stop deficit

To the editor:

On Oct. 4, Madison County Auditor Pete Fields announced his candidacy for the 21st District congressional seat.

Fields says, "a nation we must be fiscally responsible. Don't spend more than you take in."

Also, he told a reporter he would not rule out a tax increase to reduce the budget deficit.

In response to these statements, let me give some information:

Two Ohio University economists, Lowell Galloway and Richard Vedder, revealed that since 1987 every dollar of tax increases has coincided with $1.38 in new spending, which is to suggest that tax increases have resulted in higher deficits. Tax increases are justified to the public as a means of deficit reduction, but in reality they stimulate spending on influential, special-interest groups.

Fields suggested spending more on education and less on defense. I have heard this speech too many times before.

Meanwhile, the voter should beware of any politician who supports a tax increase to reduce the deficit. It does not work.

Alliance can speed area growth

To the editor:

Ralph Korte certainly knows how to keep an audience entertained. Addressing southwestern Illinois bankers, public officials and business at the fifth annual meeting of the Small Business Finance Alliance, Korte frequently interrupted his presentation to update the status of the Clinton economic game.

The interruptions were appropriate because Korte's message was about winning. As the audience listened, the speaker reflected on the ingredients that made the Small Business Construction Co. grow from a two-man operation to a $83 million-a-year business.

Self-confidence, a positive attitude, a strong work ethic, and communication skills will continue to be Korte's keys to success.

He told that group, too often, Southwestern Illinois thinks of itself as the poor "country cousin" to St. Louis.

There is a reason for this," Korte said. "Our region is rich with natural and human resources."

Korte also talked about his recent trip to Russia. "The Russians are much like we Americans," he said. "They want grandparents buying toys for grandchildren, men in business suits, brides in white gowns and, of course, they are very loyal to their country."

He stressed the tremendous fear of war which Russian people still have, as a result of their country's devastation during World War II. He indicated that the people are hopeful that a better relationship will develop between the U.S. and Russia as communication improves.

In concluding his remarks, Korte stressed the value of the Small Business Finance Alliance as a source of information and assistance for new and expanding businesses. Korte said that, when he started his business, he turned to a friend for advice. "The alliance can be the place where new businesses turn for direction today," he said.

The Small Business Finance Alliance became an Illinois not-for-profit corporation in 1979. It is a member of the Small Business Administration certified development company in December of that year.

The purpose of the corporation is to create jobs in Bond, Clinton, Madison, St. Clair, Randolph and Washington counties by providing financial information and assistance to new and expanding businesses.

The date, the corporation has assisted local companies in creating $12 million in sales and private financing.

Over 500 jobs have been created.

The alliance specializes in SBA financing, but also can provide information about conventional and other public financing tools.

Don Miller has lot more clout than he knows

Somewhere in a tiny government office there sits a person who wears power.

He or she is not known to you or me, but when this person snaps his fingers, strange things happen on our highways.

An I-244 becomes I-270, then scratch our heads and eventually get used to the idea, even though no logical reason for the change was given.

Most of the time this person deals with newer roads nobody cares much about, but recently he has stuck his nose in the face of a St. Louis area tradition.

Don Miller, the man, whom we chose to change the name of our oldest and most revered roadway, a path that we all have traveled and cursed by the same familiar name.

The decree was that Hwy. 40 shall now be known as I-64.

Yeah, sure. Our mystery person probably is related to the guy who thought up New Coke.

It's not going to work on Hwy. 40, no matter how much of our money they spend to erect new road signs.

It's not that Hwy. 40 is the oldest commuter roadway in the area, and that some drivers

Martin on the Metro

have been driving it and calling it by that name for half a century.

It's not that it has hosted some of the most fabled traffic snarls in history. Some of these nightmares, like the legendary slowdowns at the Vandeventer Overpass project, lasted for years.

The reason this new name hasn't stuck yet and may never stick is that St. Louis' official Name of Highways — Officer Don Miller — hasn't started using it consistently.

Miller, KMOX Radio's curmudgeonly airborne traffic reporter, is trying. He'll start a report and refer to the road as "I-64." He may, but a minute later he'll be happily talking about the McKnight overpass and the Inner Belt (oops, Hwy. 725...uh, I mean I-170) and the jams they are causing at Hwy. 40.

When referring to that granddaddy of commutes, why, the word "I-64" just won't come out of his mouth more than once.

Miller may overcome this habit. He has sworn with the I-244, I-270, I-255 tide and survived. Some day he will break down on the heart of west St. Louis County and say "I-64."

Of course, if he gives up, the person in the windowless room in trouble. Now, what if official communiques and memos will change the name of that highway? Miller doesn't go along.

Officer Don may not realize that, however, he has demonstrated it unconsciously on many occasions. No one else could change thoroughfare's name in an instant by saying, "Ahh, you know that little street north of the Stadium Garage West."

There we have it: Little Street.

The person in the little room would be wise to make a friend of Officer Don Miller. Without him, there are no new names for our roads. With him, the guy in the little room has it made.

On Easy Street.

New budget just like old

To the editor:

Whatever happened to the Reagan budget? The promise of stopping Washington tax and spending game? By the looks of Congress' 1988 budget resolution, the tax and spending dynamic is all gone.

Congress is making plans to raise federal taxes by $20 billion in 1989, and by more than $100 billion over the next four years.

The interesting question is, "Why do we need such tax increases?" After all, tax revenues are slated to rise by more than $20 billion annually between now and 1992 without any tax hikes. These tax revenue increases are due simply to the normal growth of the economy and the modest tax increases included in the recent tax reform bill.

Think of it. Our economy over the last year will generate a natural bounty of $320 billion in new tax revenues for the federal government. Yet Congress wants, at least, $100 billion more annually unless the federal government can use this money more wisely than hard-working Americans?

The claim taxes have been made too high have been reduced too much. However, the facts do not bear this out. Over the past three years total federal tax revenues have increased at a 9 percent annual rate. Even on an inflation-adjusted basis, this growth has been 5 percent.

These tax facts have been well documented by the Tax Foundation and its annual computation of Tax Freedom Day. This is the day that the average American pays off his tax obligations to all levels of government.

If our entire income were taken starting on Jan. 1, all tax obligations would not have been paid up until May 4, 1988.

The May 4 Tax Freedom Day is the same as it was when Ronald Reagan took over in 1981.

In 1983, Tax Freedom Day had dropped back six days to April 29 due to the Tax Foundation's impact of the 1981 tax cuts was eliminated by income tax increases in 1982 and 1984, higher excise taxes on alcohol and gasoline, and the continuing hikes in payroll taxes to pump up the Social Security system.

The massive tax reform bill of 1986 is expected to be tax revenue neutral over the long haul, since personal income tax cuts are offset by increases in business and capital gains taxes and state and local taxes have risen faster than incomes during the 1980s.

The reason for Congress' push for a tax increase is straightforward. Most senators and representatives can't stop spending. They want to increase federal spending by a whopping $25 billion from 1988 to 1992.

This increase represents 25 percent of the entire 1987 $1 trillion budget. Remember just recently when most of Congress was advancing a budget freeze?

The truth is that federal spending is boozing over most of the roadblocks put in its way.

For example, Congress has overseen its fifth reduction in gas tax average $48 billion each year for the past six years.

The federal budget for 1988 is no different. It will miss the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit limit of $30 billion by at least $30 billion by Congress' own admission. Most forecasters project a 1988 deficit of at least $10 billion, a $62 billion overshoot.

Why are we violating the Tiger mosquito stings U.S.

The tiger mosquito did not used to be a problem. But recently, reports have surfaced that the tiger mosquito is being imported into the United States.

It is believed that the tiger mosquito entered the country in water that was held in used automobile tires imported from Asia.

Further field work on this problem disclosed that the tiger mosquito is now in seven southern states as well as the country of Hawaii. It is spreading in Americas in a big way.

The most bothersome news is that it now is in the St. Louis area.

Even though the tiger mosquito looks much like any other mosquito, its behavior is different. This mosquito does not haver about, buzzing, as it looks for a choice site to land.

The tiger mosquito dive-bombs right onto its victim and bites almost immediately after landing. This quick zoom and fast biting into the skin give little time for prevention.

But the fast-biting behavior is not the worst part of this new pest. The tiger mosquito can be the carrier of a host of deadly viruses. It can carry dengue, yellow fever, polio, encephalitis and California-type encephalitis. All these viruses are severe diseases in humans.

Although there are native species of mosquitoes that carry these viruses, usually one species carries one disease. But the tiger is much more efficient at spreading disease by carrying all four.

The invasion of the tiger mosquito is a gigantic step in the wrong direction. About the last thing we need is a new and potent disease carrier.

There is no realistic way of eradicating this new pest. The tiger mosquito is firmly established in a widespread areas of the United States.

This means that we must put up with this deadly nuisance in the future. Now we can share the discomfort experienced by the Asian population for many years.

Our world has become a little more unpleasant than it was in the past.

When a person's driving privileges are revoked following a conviction for driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI), at some time it will be necessary to obtain a driver's license again. A person petitioning the Secretary of State, what factors are considered in deciding whether to reinstate those privileges?

In one recent case, the plaintiff's driving privileges were revoked in May of 1982. The revocation followed his conviction for driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI). Prior to this, the plaintiff's license had been suspended in 1976 for a DUI. He also had a DUI in 1979.

The record showed that the plaintiff was 53 years of age, and at the time of the hearing for reinstatement, he had not obtained a driver's license for several years. He had also begun attending Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) two or three times a week three months before the hearing in order to improve the chances of regaining his driving privileges.

The plaintiff had people in the community send favorable letters on his behalf to the Secretary of State. These letters came from neighbors, his physician, and his dentist. There was also a favorable assessment from a certified alcohol counselor who felt that no further treatment was necessary.

Despite these favorable factors, the hearing officer noted that the plaintiff had only recently begun participating in a support group to help him quit drinking from AA. The officer felt he had failed to carry his burden of proof that he would be a safe and responsible driver.

The Appellate Court noted that it was concerned by the fact that the plaintiff's wife had also discontinued her templeting access to alcohol. The Court felt there was a risk posed by the plaintiff's history, and therefore the Appellate Court agreed with the hearing officer's decision to deny the plaintiff's request to reinstate his driving privileges.

This case illustrates that each of these matters will be decided on a case by case basis and that the Secretary of State and the courts will apply a very strict standard in determining whether to reinstate driving privileges.

It is interesting to note that this was the third application by the plaintiff in this case for restoration of driving privileges, and he was denied these privileges in each instance.

The reason for Congress' push for a tax increase is straightforward.

Most senators and representatives can't stop spending. They want to increase federal spending by a whopping $25 billion from 1988 to 1992.

This increase represents 25 percent of the entire 1987 $1 trillion budget. Remember just recently when most of Congress was advancing a budget freeze?

The truth is that federal spending is boozing over most of the roadblocks put in its way.

For example, Congress has overseen its fifth reduction in gas tax average $48 billion each year for the past six years.

The federal budget for 1988 is no different. It will miss the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit limit of $30 billion by at least $30 billion by Congress's own admission. Most forecasters project a 1988 deficit of at least $10 billion, a $62 billion overshoot.

Why are we violating the MADISON — Board of Education members budgeted $6,365,400 for the 1987-88 fiscal year at a special meeting.

Estimated revenue is $4,603,600 and cash on hand amounts to $977,819, showing a projected deficit of $784,181.

Superintendent of Schools Dan Kostencki initially told board members the Madison district would receive $110,000 less than last year due to anticipated funding budget cuts. However, the district later was notified the total loss in state aid will amount to $165,000.

A summary of the 1987-88 budget shows estimated revenue first and the scheduled expenditures second:

Education fund, $3,466,050 and $4,570,784; liability, $36,050 and $40,000; Chapter I, federal instructional program, $235,000 and $353,855; school lunch fund, $291,000 and $312,000; transportation, $21,000 and $21,000; municipal retirement fund, $133,000 and $153,000; building fund, $153,000 and $162,000; fire and safety, $43,300 and $50,000; bonds and interest, $113,000 and $120,000.

Cash balances in these funds as of July 1, 1987, were: education, $515,208; liability, $1,903; Chapter I, deficit of $127,323; school lunch, $45,370; transportation, $21,000; municipal retirement fund, deficit of $49,904; building fund, $336,902; fire and safety, deficit of $10,365; and bonds and interest, $56,211.

Scholarships, grants being offered

High school seniors looking for ways to help finance their college engineering education can apply to the St. Clair Chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers for one of more than 160 scholarships its members award from the National Society of Professional Engineers.

Applications are available now and until Oct. 30, and must be submitted by Nov. 16.

Applications are judged from many standard test scores, essays, transcripts and extracurricular activities. Scholarships are available for specific colleges of engineering and, in addition, NSPE offers separate scholarships in each of its six geographic regions and memorial and minority grants.

The St. Clair Chapter will also be offering scholarships to the top local students competing in this program.

All national finalists will be nominated for "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

In 1987-88 NSPE will award scholarships and grants ranging from $1,000 for one full tuition four year scholarships. The NSPE scholarship program is the largest of its kind in the U.S.

The NSPE Education Foundation raises funds from engineers in technical business, the NSPE Auxiliary and individual donors. The Society has assisted 6,000 students and offered $9 million in aid since initiating the program in 1963.

For more information and applications, contact Shari Bergeron at Monsanto Co., 500 Monsanto Ave., Saugatuck 62206, or call 271-5333, ext. 2624, or a high school guidance counselor.

Something... they don't learn in school!

We are proud to have the opportunity to provide young boys and girls with the responsibility of delivering our newspaper. Responsibility and financial management are two basics that are often learned through training when a boy or girl accepts a newspaper delivery route. The responsibility is not just because the entire effort of very talented people depends on their delivery of the newspaper on time no matter what the weather conditions or circumstances are. Being an independent merchant he or she is responsible financially for the payment and collection of monies for newspapers delivered. We recognize the responsibilities both financial and job performance and we would like to congratulate the girls and boys who value this experience and do an excellent job of satisfying our customers.

Writing, foreign language classes help test scores

Students who want to do better on college entrance exams should consider taking foreign language and journalism-like writing classes, the advice that can be drawn from two articles in the October issue of PTA Today, the National Parent Teacher Association's magazine.

"Studies have shown that children who begin to master another language at an early age score higher on tests of verbal intelligence and mental flexibility," says Myriam Met, foreign language coordinator in Montgomery County (Maryland) published in PTA Today. "That's because students who had participated in yearlong or semester programs for example, had higher ACT composite scores than comparable students who had no publication experience."

Wheeler suggests that developing effective communication skills, including writing techniques, should begin early in a child's education, as long before the student enters high school.

He says students should become actively involved in thinking and writing, honing their skills just as athletes and artists do through demanding practices and performances.

Other topics covered in the October issue include helping children learn to spell, factors in deciding to retain or promote in elementary school, and helping children make the reading-writing connection.

Copies of the issue are available for $1 each by sending a check or money order made payable to the National PTA, 700 N. Rush St., Chicago, Ill. 60611. The magazine is published seven times a year (October-May, December/January combined issues), and subscriptions are $7 a year.

Recent research conducted in cooperation with the American College Testing Program (ACT) indicates that journalistic reporting and writing techniques effectively develop language arts competency, says John Wheeler, an English teacher and journalism teacher at Lyons Township High School, La Grange, Ill.

His article points out that students who had participated in yearlong or semester programs for example, had higher ACT composite scores than comparable students who had no publication experience.

Contest observes King's birth

Entry applications are now available for an essay, poetry and visual arts contest to be held in conjunction with the January 1988 observance of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The contest is open to area high school students.

Essays, poems and visual art works should focus on the theme, "Living the Dream: Freedom and Dignity for All People."

According to the contest committee, essays should be 750 to 1,000 words. Poems should be 500 words or less.

All essay and poetry entries must be typed and double-spaced. Visual art is defined to include painting, drawing, sculpture or similar mixed media excluding film, video, and other moving imagery. The maximum size for any visual arts entry is 3x3 feet.

Only one person per category will be accepted. Additional information is included on the contest application. High school students are asked to submit entries to their teachers.

SIUE faculty members will judge the essay/poetry entries on the basis of originality, organization, clarity of meaning, grammar, and spelling. SIUE faculty will judge art entries on the basis of appropriateness to the theme, artistic ability, craftsmanship, organization, and fitting memorial to Dr. King. Winners will be announced Jan. 4.

Prizes will be awarded to one high school student in each category — essay, poetry, and visual arts. Each of the three prize winners will receive a $100 cash award and a plaque of recognition.

All participants will receive a certificate of recognition. The winners will also be guests at a Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. celebration luncheon at the University Center on Jan. 12 when Maya Angelou will be the featured guest.

Applications have been mailed to area high school principals.

For additional applications or further information, persons may call JoBeth Haley at the SIUE East St. Louis Center, Box 1200, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026. Haley's phone is 217-3300. Deadline for entries is Nov. 23 at 4:30 p.m.

Halloween can be 'boo-tiful' time

By Jane Cosby

Soon ghosts and goblins, spooks and skeletons, witches and warlocks will be on a rampage once again celebrating my favorite holiday, Halloween. You may never have considered Halloween a cause for celebration, you've been missing out on a lot of fun. Share the excitement of an ancient holiday with your children with one of the following activities.

*Visit the library and find a book that explains why we celebrate Halloween and where our present costume books that give simple, easy-to-follow directions. Then let your child design and sew his own costume.

*By working with your child to create Halloween decorations for your house, you are allowing the child to practice some important fine motor skills.

*Make a large durable jack-o'-lantern by stuffing every bag with newspaper and forming a circle shape. Close it up by tying a piece of string 1 inch from the top and 10 inches from the bottom. Paint the body-orange and the stem green, then use black paint to make the face. Make several bags jack-o'-lanterns and experiment with different faces. You can even use these to kick and throw around.

*Cut out a variety of black shapes: circles, triangles, squares and rectangles. Cut a yellow circle and cut out a large orange circle. Use the black shapes to form jack-o'-lantern faces. Discuss what the names of the shapes are. Make a mask using only triangles or one with all circles.

*Make a Halloween tree. Take a walk and look for a small tree without leaves. These are easier to find after a heavy rain or thunderstorm. Anchor the branch in a pot filled with plaster of Paris or sand. Then decorate the tree with Halloween items.

*Give your child some black and orange construction paper and let him make paper chains to decorate the tree. Black string or pieces of polyester stuffing make spider webs when stretched out and glued to the branches.

*Create a skeleton by stuffing a panty hose with newspaper. Get a party hat or anatomy at the library and help your child make a bone structure on with white poster paint.

*Borrow spooky stories or record from the library. Listen to them together as a family. Then discuss what was scary in the story and why. Talk about your own fears. Encourage your child to open up about his fears.

Overall, the Halloween theme provides opportunities for activities that can be used to reinforce any skills your child is working on. If your child is interested in reading books about Halloween can provide additional motivation to a task your child may be tired of.

Decorate the bag with paint or crayons in Halloween motifs: jack-o'-lanterns, witches or ghosts. For an inch or two of sand in the bottom, place a small candle in the sand and then light your luminary outside on Halloween.

Be sure to place it on a driveway or on the porch where it cannot come into contact with dead leaves or other flammable materials. Watch it carefully while it is lit.

*Instead of carving your pumpkin, draw the jack-o'-lantern features on your pumpkin, with felt-tipped pens and it will last several weeks.

LAMAZE CLASSES, beginning here Nov. 3, will include relaxation and breathing techniques, which aid in the delivery process.

Varied classes for expectant families

The Obstetrics Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, is offering a variety of classes throughout the next several months for the Early Pregnancy, Lamaze Classes, Breastfeeding Your Baby, Creative Parenting, and Expectant Sibling Classes.

The Early Pregnancy classes are for women less than six months pregnant. These classes are held for two consecutive weeks and offer instruction in nutrition, exercise, breathing, the changes in a woman's body during pregnancy and how the fetus develops.

This series will be held on two consecutive Mondays, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. to 1 p.m. in the Pre-Natal Classroom, on the second floor of the McKinley School Building, 22nd and Iowa streets, across from the medical center.

"Expecting" men and women during the last three months of pregnancy are introduced to the Lamaze method of breathing during the Lamaze Classes. The six-week series of classes includes relaxation and breathing techniques, discussion of labor and delivery, vaccinations and Caesarean sections, an introduction to parenting and breastfeeding, and a tour of the OB Department.

Tuesday sessions begin Nov. 3 and Wednesday sessions begin on Nov. 4. All classes meet from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Pre-Natal Classroom. Pre-registration is required.

Parents who have had the Lamaze classes within the past two years and are expecting another child should plan to attend the first meeting of the Lamaze classes. An instructor will assist you in determining which classes to attend.

Breastfeeding Your Baby is a class for both expectant or new parents who have chosen breastfeeding for their baby, and who want to know more about the subject.

Topics include advantages of breastfeeding, suggestions for increasing success and avoiding problems, tips for mothers who need to return to work, and basic nutrition information.

The class will meet on Monday, Dec. 7, from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Prenatal Classroom.

The Creative Parenting Class is a unique program designed to provide helpful insight and information about becoming better parents.

The program is designed for couples expecting a baby and for those who have recently had a newborn. Grandparents and other special people who assist in the care of the new family members can also benefit from this class.

Topics include infant CPR, basic childhood illnesses, car/house safety, and milestones of growth and development in early childhood (with emphasis on the first year of life).

The class, which is free, will meet on two consecutive Mondays, Oct. 19 and 26, from 6:30 to 9 p.m., in the Pre-Natal Classroom.

"The arrival of a new baby is a very important event which affects everyone in the family."

Medication hazards cited

Piassa Health Care, a not-for-profit health care agency specializing in the treatment and prevention of substance abuse, is offering a medication education program called Operation Snowcap.

Designed to help educate elderly patients about proper use of prescription medications, Snowcap helps participants avoid common errors of health care.

"While nearly every patient, young or old, will at some time be taking medication, the problem is more acute in elderly patients," Kim Clark, prevention specialist, said. Topics discussed in Snowcap are communicating with physicians, the effects of medication, drinking when on medication, taking vitamins, and tips on keeping track of medications.

Due to a greater instance of illness, the elderly take — on the average — two-and-a-half times more medication than the rest of the population. Diseases in the elderly patient may be chronic and require long-term adherence to a therapeutic regimen, he said.

Also, older patients may over-react to even moderate doses of prescribed medication. Therefore, it is important that elderly patients acquire greater knowledge, respect, and responsibility for the fact they must often take it was stressed.

Both governmental and clinical studies have found that many older patients will face one or more of these medication hazards:

1) Offering left-over medicines to or accepting them from friends or relatives without consulting their physicians.

2) Consuming alcoholic beverages or foods that may interact with prescribed medications.

3) Neglecting to tell their physicians about other medications or remedies they are taking.

4) Increasing or stopping medication because they do not feel much better after a day or two.

5) Decreasing or stopping medication because they feel much better after a day or two.

6) Failing to take regular medications when they should.

7) Cutting back on medication on their own because they find some of the minor effects bothersome.

Kickers open regional play with home match Monday

The soccer Warriors can take the weekend off after their regular-season finale tonight at St. Louis University High School. Jerseyville has dropped out of Regional A of the Granite-City Sectional, creating a seven-team regional and a bye for the Warriors (13-3-1) and they will be off until Monday when they face the winner of Saturday's Alton-Madison game. Jerseyville seeded fourth and Wood River fifth. Monday's game will start at 7 p.m. at the Gauntlet.

Other first-round games on Saturday will be between Granite City and No. 6 Roxana at No. 3 Civic Memorial. The winners of those two games will meet on Monday at the home field of the higher seeded team. The regional title game will be played on Oct. 29 at the home field of the higher seeded team. If the Warriors win Monday, they will host the title game that night.

Spikers get Triad in regional

Although the high-flying Warrior volleyball team will be hosting an Illinois Class AA sectional in November, the girls have an easy time getting there.

Don Deterding's team will first have to get through the Edwardsville Regional. On Saturday, the Warriors, along with Lincoln, will meet Granite City, which will face Triad on Oct. 27 immediately following the Edwardsville-Roxana match which begins at 6:30 p.m.

Afterward, the Warriors are true to form that night, the Warriors will face the Tigers on Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. in the regional title match. It will be tough to do anything else on their home floor, where the Warriors lost in their first match of the season on Sept. 9.

The Edwardsville Regional champion will join regional winners from Collinsville, Wood River and Belleville (East) at the Granite City Sectional on Nov. 3-5. Belleville West will be the heavy favorite at Belleville, where they are joined by Belleville East, Belleville Althoff and O'Fallon. At Collinsville, the Lady Kahoks will face East Alton, Roxana and Cahokia. They will face East St. Louis. At Wood River, the Oilers will face Alton while Jerseyville faces Civic Memorial.

Vianney wins shootout to capture tournament

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It took 16 goals for the 1987 Tournament of Champions to be decided. And it was not for the shootout, Vianney and CBC might still be out there.

The two St. Louis powers battled to a scoreless tie for 80 minutes of regulation play and 20 minutes of overtime. They then went through two rounds of a shootout. Jason Sauer of CBC shot wide to give Vianney the tournament championship.

The Griffins thus became the first team ever to win the Tournament of Champions twice. They won the initial title in 1981. "This is a big tournament to win for us," said Vianney coach Mike Villa. "Next to the state tournament, this is the best one. And it's even tougher because you have to play so many games in a few days."

Well, this year's event was spread out over a day because of rain. And the Griffins had to win a shootout last Friday in the rain over Aquinas Mercy to make it to the title game.

right corner in the shootout and Dale and Gregory made a number of fine saves.

The Cadets scored on their first two shots in the shootout and Vianney had one. But CBC won the third shot. Villa said he last three shots while Ben Sanchez evened things by putting one in the top corner on the Griffins' last chance.

The last round started with Gregory stopping Scott McDaniel and Tom Bratcher while Greg Herdick and Mike Kellermann scored for Vianney. Mike Nelson kept the Cadets alive, but Dave Wulkop put the Griffins back up by two, with only two shots left for CBC.

Schicker lined up his shot but did not think it hurt the players who played much of the game.

"It was probably tough for the kids who sat on the bench for a while and then came in," he said.

Nichols North took home the title plaque in a 2-0 overtime win earlier on Wednesday. That game was also scoreless through regulation play, but the Stars erupted for two goals within 18 seconds of each other late in the first 10-minute overtime to take the game from Aquinas Mercy. Jeff Mika of Vianney received most of the tournament honors for the Griffins. Other players named to the all-tournament team were Jason Huber of Vianney, Brad Hilkes of Parkway West, Steve Kuntz of Wood Central, Bryan McEvoy and Scott McDaniel of CBC, Rob Lindell of Desmet, Steve Kuntz in the record books, so the Griffins have gained two wins and a tie vs. CBC this year.

"This is just a heckuva tough tournament and we feel really good to win it," Villa said. "We've been working hard since we've come in the first team to win it twice. We had struggled here the past couple of years. This feels good. And I would like to say that CBC has a tremendous program."

As for the cold weather, Villa didn't think it hurt the players who played much of the game.

Warriors to 20 wins this year can be attributed to summer camps Knollman, LeVault and Earney attended.

"I don't think we could have won without the camps," Knollman said. "We all improved and found out how much we didn't know about volleyball."

Knollman said her defense has improved twice over during the camps.

"My defense was terrible last year," she said. "He [Deterding] had to take me out of the back row last season but now I can handle myself on defense."

The camps were really helpful, said Earney. "After the camp we decided to go and we learned a lot. Also having all five people coming back really made us a solid team."

Deterding pointed to the improvement of Michelle Jeffries and Lisa Kult as the final pieces to the Lady Warrior puzzle.

"Knollman, LeVault, Earney and Lisa Mills made big strides, but Kult and Jeffries had further to go," Deterding said.

Deterding knew the Warriors were capable of winning 20 games and that may have hurt them in their first match against Edwardsville.

"The Edwardsville loss brought us back down to earth and we started working on the things we needed to accomplish," he said.

"I think having an upset by Triad, Edwardsville is the only thing standing in the way of the Lady Warriors playing at home in their sectionals."

"I think we have to get to Triad," Deterding said. "I have seen teams beat other teams that they didn't even belong on the floor with. But our girls are a good team and when the referees throw up the ball, they're ready."

"The players' parents have been great in supporting us this year," he said. "It would be really nice to beat Edwardsville and play Belleville West at home with the parents cheering us on."

"It would be nice to beat Edwardsville, West and Mater Dei," Knollman said. "Edwardsville beat us our first game of the year, which they had played five games already. We played West tough but couldn't beat them and we should have won the first game against Mater Dei in the end. Belleville West tournament, so we can play with those teams."

Granite City will play at Belleville Althoff in the regular-season finale tonight.

Weckman, Lobdell shoot for more success at state

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Allan Lobdell had lots of confidence in Keri Weckman. He wasn't disappointed.

Weckman is beginning to make a habit of traveling north the last week of October for girls tennis tournaments in Mt. Prospect. Also a sophomore, Weckman is making her second trip to state and who is to say she won't add two more trips before she graduates?

"I felt pretty good going into the day about Keri," said Lobdell, the Warrior tennis coach. "She's a good player and she who hadn't already beaten or who hadn't lost to someone else she had beaten."

Lobdell was referring to the semi-final match Saturday at Wood River. Weckman won all four of her matches in straight sets and defeated Katy Schwartz of Alton Marquette in the finals 6-1, 6-4.

"She was really good all day," Lobdell said. "I was afraid she might get a little nervous because she is a sophomore, but it didn't happen. She is a more complete player now than she was at the beginning of the year and I am really looking forward to next season working with her."

Lobdell said Weckman's confidence was given a boost by her strong showing in the Southwestern Conference meet last week.

"Because of that, I think she was a little more confident in her abilities," Lobdell said. "She hit the ball as good as anyone, I think."

"It would be nice to see her win a couple of matches up there," he said.

The tournament began at 10 a.m. today, although pairings were not yet certain. Weckman has a dual match record of 14-4 going into today's competition.

Weckman's doubles team of Cathy Senderly and Holly Taylor won their first-round match and lost to Judy Nappier and Jenny Klueter of Civic Memorial in the second round. All other Warriors lost their opening matches.

Gridders can still produce respectable year

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — From out of the ashes of what appears to be a dismal season, the football Warriors could yet make it a respectable year.

As badly as they have been beaten in four of the last five weeks, they have a better-than-fair chance of winning their last two games. That would lead to them with a 4-5 record and would also give them second place in the Southwestern Conference.

"If we could end up 4-5, it would be terrific for this team," said head coach Ron Yates.

"And we could do it. It will be nice to play some teams that are closer to our level."

Amen. Games against East St. Louis, Belleville Althoff and Springfield Griffin didn't offer much hope. And the Warriors were outscored 130-7 in those three games.

The Warriors will go into a game with a reasonable chance to win for the first time in four weeks when they host Alton (1-2 in the SWC, 2-5 overall) in the Homecoming Game at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Memorial Stadium.

Granite City has an identical record and there are five teams struggling for second place behind East St. Louis.

If the Warriors can beat Alton and Belleville East, they would finish second in the conference if Belleville West would lose one of its two remaining games. The Maroons face the Lancers and Redbirds, also

"We have always finished strong," Yates said. "So we will work hard and I will let the players know they can still get second place."

"I hope the shellacking we have taken will help us. But I know the boys have played many of the same teams."

The Redbirds are also looking to kick out some frustration. They lost 34-0 at East St. Louis and 30-0 at Springfield. They committed seven turnovers. Alton had the ball inside the Flyer 10 twice in the first half but got nothing.

"I see this game as two teams with nothing to lose," said second-year Redbird coach Collie James. "I knew we would struggle this year with lots of young kids. We have had some bright performances at East St. Louis because we had some chances and didn't take advantage."

James has been pleased with his defense, but the Redbird offense has been erratic for much of the year. They have been shut out four times this year.

"I have to give our defense the highest marks possible."

James said, "But they can't do it all. Our offensive line just hasn't blocked well enough to get things going."

The Redbirds have talent in the backfield with Deverick Spraggins, Wilbur Kaiser and Joe Vann. But they have yet to exploit it.

"Their offense is mediocre," Yates said. "But they could be good against us because of their quickness."

Two sophomore guards, Joe Thomas and Brian Nichard, have been playing time at Springfield and freshman quarterback Bob Thomas played the fourth quarter after Joe Wallace was shaken.

"The sophomore team will practice with the varsity team a few times and that might motivate our juniors and seniors," Yates said. "They should have a couple of bloodbaths because Alton will hit you. But we could still gain a lot."

Yates is hoping that Len Whiteside will be able to play in the finale with Belleville East. Whiteside has been doing pushups in PE class, but Yates isn't holding his breath. Steve Stockman could also be back this week.

"It's going to be a tough game for us, no question about it," Trojan coach Don Smith said.

"Maybe the loss to Freeburg was what we needed. It readies us for Assumption."

Hopefully we'll bounce back against Assumption. They're good, but we think they're going to show us anything now."

Nothing new, maybe. But with a 6-1 record and an offense that has averaged 32 points a game, the Pioneers aren't exactly suffering from a lack of confidence. They are the No. 2 Class 2A team in Illinois.

Stuffing the Pioneers will be a matter of stuffing the Pioneers' running attack, which is no simple task.

Trojans eye playoffs; face tough Pioneers

MADISON — In five of its seven games this season, the Trojans' ball has been more like a rubber ball, bouncing over and around weaker opponents.

Now the question is: Can the rubber ball bounce back?

After finding itself in the slow end of the first half in four games when they host Alton (1-2 in the SWC, 2-5 overall) in the Homecoming Game at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Memorial Stadium.

Granite City has an identical record and there are five teams struggling for second place more than 1,800 yards this season, with the broadest backfield duo of Jacques Norris and Vernon Slaughter chewing up more turf than a runaway Snapper.

Norris is seventh in the league in rushing with 730 yards despite sitting out last week with a case of the flu. Slaughter, a 6-3, 235-pound tractor trailer of a fullback, picked up the slack for the Pioneers in their win over Argenta-Oreana last week by rushing for more than 150 yards.

That will put a heavy workload on the Trojan defense. Madison will probably employ the 3-2 defensive alignment as a precautionary measure.

Meanwhile, the Pioneer defense will be given the unenviable chore of keeping the green machine's offensive scheme in check.

The Trojans have averaged 19 points a game this year despite posting only six points in each of their last three games.

Halfback Ian Smith is eighth in the area in rushing with 622 yards while fullback Ricky Ball has accumulated 545 yards.

Quarterback Jim Williams has passed for 592 yards and three touchdowns this season.

The Trojans have not been reluctant to put the football in the air this year, as evidenced by Williams' 68 passing attempts. Assumption, on the other hand, has thrown for only 393 yards.

When the two squads met last year, Assumption came away with a convincing 21-0 win. Smith hopes the tables are turned when the Pioneers come to Sam Dymon Field.

"They've got to come to our place and we've got to try to give our guys a lift," Smith said. "We've just got to play two good weeks of football."

Neil Lomax returns Sunday to quarterback the Big Red against the New York Giants.

Crunch time

Winless Super Bowl champs next for 'real' Big Red

By Scott Marion
Journal Staff Writer

After three weeks of the Replacement Football League, it's back to reality for the football Cardinals and the New York Giants. Or is it?

The Cardinals take a 2-3 record into Sunday's 3 p.m. game at Giants Stadium, including a 1-2 mark during the strike. The Giants are 0-5 and off to the worst start ever for a Super Bowl champion.

"I'm not thinking of them as winners," said Cardinals head coach George Allen, pointing to a tough losing streak.

"They're the same team who won the Super Bowl last year; they're not the same team that's 0-5. If they're good enough to win every game from here on in, I'll be surprised," Allen said. The Cardinals, who had 21 of 50 players (including those on injured reserve) cross the picket line, New York's offense, featuring quarterback Phil Simms, running back Joe Morris and tight end Mark Bavaro, won't be mistreated for the replacement unit. Its defense, led by Pro Bowl linebacker Lawrence Taylor, has given the Cardinals fits the past two years.

"It's been a struggle all year," coach Bill Parcells said after last Sunday's 6-3 loss to Buffalo. "It's going to be very difficult to get out of it. I don't think we have any margin of error."

Stallings, meanwhile, was in an upbeat mood this week, despite last Sunday's 17-10 loss to San Francisco.

"We played as well as we could," Stallings said. "I hate to lose, but I had to be a little pleased with our performance."

The atmosphere was tense Monday when the Cardinals strikers and non-strikers got together for practice, but Stallings hopes the tension won't carry over to Sunday's game.

"I'm not worried about who's going to play. I wonder who won," Stallings said. "What bothers me is that our year consists of 16 weeks. This is our seventh week, but it really seems like our third. It has to be a little frustrating for owners, players and coaches."

Rookie running back Derrick McAdoo, who has had 202 yards on 42 carries and three touchdowns the past two weeks, will return to his prestrike role as Stump Mitchell's backup. But McAdoo's contribution won't be missed.

"He's the kind of football player I like," Stallings said. "He's tough and aggressive; I could see that in training camp."

"He makes the position a little tougher if Stump gets tired, knowing you have a guy like him there," he said.

Neil Lomax, who completed 32 of 61 passes for 457 yards and three touchdowns in his last game at San Diego, will usurp Sammy Garza at quarterback. Wide receiver Roy Green, who missed the last two games with a hamstring injury, should play Sunday. The effect of their inactivity, however, remains to be seen.

"It may be a factor, to some degree, I'm not sure," Stallings said. "It takes awhile to get the timing down and for the quarterback to know what the receivers are doing. But I think they'll do it quickly."

One player who finds himself on the hot seat is place-kicker Jim Galliher, who has missed two of six field goals this season, including misses of 39 and 48 yards last week.

"We want him to start having a little more success," Stallings said. "I don't mean that to be interpreted that I have no confidence in him; I just want to see some production."

As Wednesday's game approaches, replacement players remained on the St. Louis roster, including guard/tackle Ray Brown, tackle Tom Welter, tight end William Harris, wide receiver Ron Brown, outside linebacker Terence Mack, guard/tackle Charlie Vatterott, strong safety Dwayne Anderson and cornerback Mark Jackson.

(Col.) Scott said he would make a decision Saturday. Stallings said, "I don't know what Garza's status is. We have to get at 45 players by Saturday," so we'll make that decision in the latter part of the week."

Big Red notes: The Giants have an 8-5 record against St. Louis since 1980, including wins last year of 13-6 at Busch Stadium and 27-7 at Giants Stadium. The last Cardinals' win in the Meadowlands was a 10-6 decision in 1983.

First-place Tigers ready for true test

By Jim Baer
Journal Staff Writer

We're now three weeks into the Big Eight Conference race and look who's in first place? Naturally, Oklahoma and Nebraska—that's a given.

But the Missouri Tigers tied for first with those two national powers? By virtue of wins over Kansas State and Iowa State the Tigers (4-2) stand atop the heap along with the nation's first and second-ranked teams. That's the best conference start for the Tigers since 1980.

The true test will come Saturday, however, when Missouri squares off with Oklahoma State (5-1). Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. at Faurot Field. The winner of the game appears to be in good shape to get a bowl bid at the end of the season.

Bowl scouts from the Liberty and Blue Bonnet Bowls will be in attendance Saturday. The Florida Citrus Bowl will send representatives to Missouri next week to view the Nebraska game.

Of course Missouri head coach Woody Widenhofer isn't crowing yet since he'd defeated two rather weak conference opponents. But narrow losses to Top 20-ranked Indiana and Syracuse are taking on new significance.

Indiana is in the Big 10 chase for the Rose Bowl while unbeaten Syracuse, ranked ninth in Associated Press poll, could wind up in Miami's Orange Bowl or the Citrus Bowl.

"I like the way we are playing," Widenhofer said. "We're not a great team, but we are playing very hard."

"I'm encouraged because as a team we don't self-destruct anymore. We came back and shut out Iowa State in the second half and scored the last 35 points of the game," beating the Cyclones in Ames, 42-17.

Widenhofer said the key to victory Saturday is keeping Oklahoma State's offensive unit on the bench as much as possible. Last Saturday the Cyclones smothered at home by Nebraska, 35-0, halting a five-game winning streak.

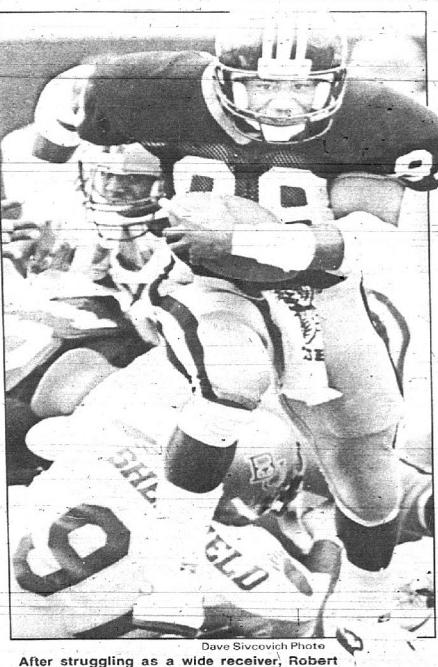

The Cowboys feature a dangerous offensive attack, which includes Heisman Trophy candidate Thurman Thomas, who has rushed for 707 yards and seven touchdowns, leading all Big Eight running backs.

Missouri has its own star running backs in seniors Darrell Wallace and Mike Davis. Wallace has already eclipsed the all-time Missouri rushing record.

Delpino has rushed for 504 yards, averaging 9 yards per carry. A year ago, Delpino, a junior college transfer, was struggling as a wide receiver.

"He has to be one of the (great) all-time transitions at this level ever," said Widenhofer. "For a guy who never previously played that position, he could be one of the best in the U.S. He's just a natural athlete."

Missouri leads the series with the Cowboys 20-13, but has lost the last three meetings. And Oklahoma State has won three of the last four at Faurot Field. Those four games have been decided by a total of 13 points.

After struggling as a wide receiver, Robert Delpino is excelling as a running back.
